

From paper to digital with Managed Print Services (MPS)

2020 marked a crossroads in the area of digital transformation. Today’s companies are now embracing hybrid models which, without completely discarding physical documents, are beginning to look to digitization to address their needs. This has given rise to a reality divided between paper and traditional printing, and the conversion of vast amounts of paper-based information to digital formats.

Document Solutions

It is through Document Solutions that we manage to store documents digitally, in a way that is compatible with a company's operational systems. These solutions allow us to recognize, store, and share this information within collaborative environments aimed at optimizing the company's tasks and processes.

Managed Print Services (MPS)

MPS address the process of document digitization, transforming unstructured information, that resides in an infinite number of formats and types of documents, into information capable of being processed by operational systems. While also harnessing security, it is a key contributor to the digital transformation process.

Optimization

Optimize the printing process, reduce costs and the impact on the environment.

Productivity

Automate repetitive processes to improve workflows and increase productivity.

Security

Guarantee the security and confidentiality of both physical and digital documents.

Digital Transformation

MPS facilitates the digital transformation journey providing data that can be used in company content management and operational systems.

The Digital Transformation Process with Managed Print Services

Savings

Optimization

Phase 1

We monitor installed equipment and supply consumption to meet customer's needs. We optimize printing to generate valuable information that, in turn, allows us to identify opportunities for savings.
